- General translations: Customers can benefit from a more general translation, which does not require any special sectoral knowledge on the part of the translators, and the corresponding rates will be lower than those for technical projects. Note: Translations Universe translators may recognize the technical nature of some projects commissioned as general. In this case, we invite the client to pay the difference between the general project commissioned and the technical project. If the client refuses the surcharge, the entire amount spent will be reimbursed, net of commissions for the transfer of funds (e.g. Paypal fees or bank charges). If the translators have carried out part of the project before reporting the technical nature of the project, the client will be returned the partially translated work and will be charged the costs of the work done up to that time, the remaining part will be refunded, net of fees for the transfer of funds (e.g. Paypal fees or bank charges);

- Tools used for translation: when it comes to professional translation, the professionals at Translations Universe make use of specific tools, programs and technologies available in the translation market. These tools allow you to create specific terminology databases, translation memories, glossaries and dictionaries that will be reused in projects commissioned by users, in order to preserve contexts, project linearity and terminology specific to the sector of the client who orders the project. Translations Universe is trained to manage and translate using TMX (Translation Memories) and external translation platforms and software;
- Extension of delivered translation files: files are generally returned in the same format as the source text, unless special requests are made by customers. Translators who provide their service to Translations Universe work on editable texts in digital format. In the event that texts in paper format or the acquisition of paper formats are commissioned, surcharges may be applied for the transcription of sources in digital format;

Transcription service: the agency provides an audio/video transcription service. The service consists of a digital format written multimedia files of audio or visual nature. It is possible to translate audio or video multimedia files, this requires the transcription and translation of multimedia files, therefore, will apply the combined rates for the service of transcription and translation. The customer can make a specific request for the typology of transcription to be applied:

- Soft transcription: the transcription is reported in digital format reconstructing the dynamics of the text while maintaining the meaning of the interlocutions of the source file. This means that any parts of the text could be cut, as in the case of exclamations, meaningless sentences, truncated sentences, sounds or words in the background;
- Literal transcription: the transcription is reported in digital format keeping unchanged the dialogue of the multimedia file. All parts of the speech will be transcribed, including truncated sentences, exclamations, interjections, ideophones. This type of transcription is required if the contents to be transcribed are of a legal nature or in any other case if expressly requested by the customer;

Note: Translations Universe reserves the right to reject multimedia files, even during the construction process, if they are compromised or if the audios are corrupted in any way and therefore impossible to be transcribed.

- Tools used for transcription: for professional transcription, experts at Translations Universe use specific tools, programs and technologies available within the transcription market. These tools allow to listen to multimedia files, play them, stop them or rewind them quickly, in order to ensure speed and quality of service. In order to deal with large transcription projects in a short time, it may be necessary to divide the multimedia files and assign them to several professionals. Translations Universe project managers will ensure that the parts are intact, smooth and uninterrupted;

Depending on the volume of editing work to be done on the commissioned texts, Translations Universe is able to provide two tiers of text revision:

- Proofreading service: Translations Universe professionals will review texts and modify their structure, layout, punctuation, revise them with automatic correction tools and improve their quality. If the text is corrupted in more than one part and the sense, legibility, grammar or syntax are considered compromised, the client will be notified of the need to use the editing service, which involves partial or total rewriting in order to use the translated text. If the customer expressly requests a Proofreading service, on a corrupted text and, after receiving notification of the need to raise it to the next level of revision should refuse, Translations Universe does not assume responsibility for the integrity of the text produced;
- Editing service: Translations Universe professionals will review texts and modify their structure, layout, punctuation, grammar, syntax and improve readability, consistency and context. This level of editing is subject to higher pricing than Proofreading. In this case, Translations Universe assumes responsibility for the integrity of the text produced. ### 3. Benefits of the services provided

Translations Universe is able to guarantee customer satisfaction always in terms of speed and savings. Translations Universe provides review, human translation and transcription services in 33 languages.

Translations Universe offers professional translations in technical areas at different rates than general translations. If the client considers that the content to be translated does not require any technical knowledge, he will choose the "General" translation area.

However, Translations Universe translators may recognize the technical aspect of some content and report it, so the customer will be asked if they agree to pay the excess to translate the technical content or if they wish to request a refund (net of transfer fees).

We have an effective customer service that responds and implements all processes to respond to requests, resolve disputes or provide clarification on the services we offer.

- Customer service: the Translations Universe support team is able to meet the most diverse language requirements. Some project committee cases require special attention so clients prefer to contact us by phone or email to agree on the development of their translation projects. The online project submission tool remains a valuable tool for commissioning translation projects. Customer support can be contacted by email at info@translationsuniverse.com, by phone at +39 080 4807045 or via the contact form under "Contact" on www.translationsuniverse.com.

Translations Universe's project management team is composed of in-house translators and can respond to requests for contact in English.

- Project management: Translations Universe relies on specialized figures within the management team who can coordinate the work of translation, transcription and revision. In the event that the client commissions large projects, or on a regular basis, the project management will ensure that the returning clients are followed by reference figures who will take care of the management of relations with the client, their accounting, support, execution and delivery of projects;
- Network of language professionals: all professional language services are offered and managed by native-speaking professionals who guarantee the speed of service, the integrity of the contents and the quality of the texts produced. Translations Universe has a certified staff that operates remotely and internally, coordinated by the internal management of the agency.

For this reason, it is possible to count on a service, always punctual, linear and contextualized, in the event that the translations are significant and related to a particular area of expertise.

Translations Universe evaluates, selects and collaborates with professional translators, carefully selected according to their expertise. The translators are industry experts who know and work with the latest translation systems and programs.

Note: In some cases, the customer may specifically request to work with one or more of the translators. This is a practice that Translations Universe recommends in order to preserve the context, terminology and consistency of the work commissioned and carried out for a given client.

4. Online services purchasing process

On the website www.translationsuniverse.com it is possible to purchase online translation, transcription and proofreading services. For this purpose, Translations Universe has been introduced that allows the customer to complete the entire process of buying these services.

In particular:

- Registration: The user is required to register and fill in the following fields: name, surname, password, email, captcha, city, nationality, telephone number, address. The asterisk fields are mandatory. The data will be kept for invoicing, marketing, contacts relating to projects commissioned. Under no circumstances will the information be given to third parties without prior notice to the customer. At the time of registration, the customer tacitly accepts these Terms and Conditions of Service which are valid from the time of registration and for any project commissioned;
- Choosing the service: The user can choose whether to commission translation, transcription or text revision projects. The online tool offers the possibility to choose between one or more language combinations for commissioning projects. A language combination is a combination of source language (file to be translated) and target language (translated file). In addition to choosing the language combination, the user can upload the file to be translated, proofread or transcribed or choose to communicate the word count measured. The word count will be analysed by the Translations Universe project management and the final quotations will be calculated on the basis of the count provided by Translations Universe. Should the automatic counting tool return an incorrect value, Translations Universe reserves the right to contact the customer in order to request an integration on the basis of the prices listed on the site. In no case will refund requests be accepted if the customer has intentionally communicated and paid part of the project;

- General and expert translation service: the automatic purchasing system allows the customer to choose between two levels of competence, general and expert. For specifications on these two levels, it is necessary to refer to point 2 of the Terms and Conditions of Service;
- Right to reject commissions: Translations Universe may reject projects commissioned due to force majeure that may make it impossible to provide the service offered. The causes may be due to technical inefficiencies of the online platform, to the lack of professional translators able to serve the language combinations chosen at the time of purchase, or to the impossibility of delivering the projects within the established timeframe. If the customer has already paid for the chosen service, the refund terms will be applied (Point 8);
- Guidelines: during the ordering phase, the client may provide notes to the project, which will be used by the translators to follow the style, context, glossaries (if provided), formats and any useful guidelines for the development of the project commissioned; should the professional in charge fail to follow the guidelines provided by the client, it will be possible to contact the project management at info@translationsuniverse.com. In this case, the client may submit his/her complaint, which will be subject to careful review by the Translations Universe team;
- Files upload: customers can upload files in multiple formats (e.g. docx, xls, pdf, ppx, etc.). The customer is expected to receive a translation in the same format as the source text, unless the customer makes special requests or the translators are required to do so. Translations Universe will promptly inform the customer about the need to return a file in a format different from the original. If the commissioned texts were to be translated into several languages, the files could be organized on spreadsheets, with the source text facing the translated texts (this operation makes it easy to identify the portions of the translated text matching the source text). Translations Universe project management will receive the file uploaded by the customers via the "Launch project" tool by email, proceed to verify the integrity of the commissioned files and organize the work in order to be able to meet the required deadlines and quality;
- Terms & Conditions: when purchasing the online service, the customer will be notified of the acceptance of these Terms and Conditions for the purchase of the online services.

5. Prices, taxation, deposits, payment methods, billing, encrypted payments, currencies, transfer fees

Prices of professional services offered by Translations Universe are calculated according to the type of service requested:

- Translation service: the unit of measurement taken into account is the source word. The automatic online system automatically calculates the number of words in a file and returns the final word count. The total word count is multiplied by the tariff per word applied, according to the language and according to the type of translation required (general or expert);
- Editing/Proofreading service: the unit of measurement taken into account is the word. The automatic online system automatically calculates the number of words in a file and returns the final word count. The total word count is multiplied by the rate per word applied, according to the language and according to the type of revision required (proofreading and editing);
- Transcription service: the unit of measurement taken into account is the minute. The automatic online system automatically calculates the number of recording minutes present in an audio or video file and returns the final minute count. The total minute count is multiplied by the rate per minute applied, depending on the language and the type of transcription required (soft and literal).

Total prices shown on the "Pricing" page and the partial prices returned by the automatic purchasing tool are to be considered net of any transfer fees and VAT.

Note: Translations Universe operates in Italy, therefore, prices for commissions are subject to taxation, depending on the following criteria for taxation:

- Eurozone customers with VAT number: in case the clients have a valid VAT number, within the Eurozone, the 22% VAT tax will not be applied (Art. 41 d.l. n. 331/93);
- Eurozone customers without VAT number: in case the clients do NOT have a valid VAT number, the 22% VAT tax will be applied within the Eurozone;
- Non-EU customers: No taxation is applied for orders placed by clients with offices registered outside the Eurozone (Non Imp.li art. 8, C.1 Lett. A- DPR 633/72).

- Right of withdrawal exercised by Translations Universe: Translations Universe reserves the right to withdraw from the agreement regarding the sales of the service at any time, as a consequence of: after the notification made by the translators<sup>1</sup> who provide their services to Translations Universe (related to any problems linked to the nature of the files commissioned. If the source file is compromised, written in a language different from the one chosen as the target language at the time of the commission), after the notification of incorrect word count<sup>2</sup> (this occurs if the automatic counting tool returns incorrect values, even if the client has paid in part or in full for the incorrectly counted words), after the notification of the inability to access the commissioned file<sup>3</sup> (this occurs in the event that the commissioned file is corrupt, illegible, damaged or does not comply with the guidelines specified by the client), after the notification of non-receipt of payment or partial payment<sup>4</sup> (if payment is not received or is received only partially by Paypal, credit card or bank transfer), after the notification made by project management<sup>5</sup> (the project managers and Translations Universe staff reserve the right to withdraw from the terms of sale), after the notification made by the project management or Translations Universe translators regarding sensitive nature of source text<sup>6</sup> (if the commissioned files are considered to be fraudulent, discriminatory, child pornographic, sensitive at the discretion of the project management). Note: the right of withdrawal by Translations Universe is subject to the conditions for reimbursement indicated in the Terms and Conditions;

In this regard, Translations Universe reserves the right to partially or totally withhold the expenses paid by the client, until the dispute can be considered resolved). The client will be entitled to a refund, if justified, in a percentage directly proportional to the difference between the length of the text commissioned and the length of the text already translated by the translator in charge (e.g. if the client should withdraw when 30% of the work has already been carried out, then he/she will have to pay for 30% of the total commissioned, the remaining part will be refunded net of any commissions for the transfer of funds (e.g. Paypal rates or bank commissions).

In this case, we invite the client to settle the difference between the general project commissioned and the technical project. If the client refuses the surcharge, the entire amount spent will be reimbursed, net of any commissions for the transfer of funds (e.g. Paypal fees or bank charges). Should the automatic counting tool return an incorrect value, Translations Universe reserves the right to contact the customer in order to request an integration on the basis of the rates listed on the site. If the customer refuses the surcharge, the entire amount spent will be reimbursed, net of any commissions for the transfer of funds (e.g. Paypal rates or bank commissions). Under no circumstances will be accepted requests for refunds if the customer has intentionally communicated and paid part of the project;
- Error in formatting delivered projects: The standard delivery method of the file requires that the translated files are returned in the same format and text formatting (layout) as per the source file, unless otherwise specified by the customer. The customer can request to convert the files into a format of his choice, communicating it in advance through the guidelines or at the end of the translation. Note: Translations Universe reserves the right to reject the request to convert the file into a format that is impractical for the purpose of the translation process. Furthermore, Translations Universe reserves the right to apply a surcharge on the request for conversion of the file into a format requested by the client (e.g. conversion of a file into a non-editable pdf format, into an editable text format). If the delivered file is processed in a different file extension or formatting (layout) than the one requested by the customer, the customer can request its correction free of charge;
- Request for a refund due to customer error when purchasing or sending files to be elaborated: in the event that, through the use of the online purchase system, or by email, files or documents were sent by mistake, the customer may request interruption of the processing of projects and request a refund. This right must be exercised within 10% of the estimated time for delivery (eg. the second day if the delivery is estimated at 20 days), in this case will be delivered the work done up to that time (from the time of notification, communicated by email to info@translationsuniverse.com) and refunded the remaining part, expressed as a percentage, net of any fees for the transfer of funds (eg. Paypal rates or bank charges);
- The effective time for crediting the amounts paid depends on the payment method used (for example, if the purchase was made through PayPal, the refund will be made to your PayPal account and will be immediately visible);
- Note: Translations Universe's project management can issue discounts, discount codes, discount rates, credits, if it considers useful in order to resolve a dispute with the customer;
- Nota 2: Translations Universe collaborates with internal and external professionals, who are human mother-tongue professionals. Due to the nature of human translation, although supported by professional tools, it is subject to margin of error. Translations Universe works to ensure that the margin of error is as close as possible to 0%, thanks to the selective testing of the professionals, and continuous monitoring, market research and training tools.
